Calloway Board Awards Paving Contract To Mayfield Company

In a special meeting Thursday night, the Calloway County School Board approved a recommendation from superintendent Jack Rose to accept a $128,000 bid from Pavco, Inc., Mayfield, to pave the high school parking lot.

According to Rose, bids for the parking lot opened Thursday and the Pavco bid was the only one received. Rose added that he felt the bid was close to what the project cost had been estimated.

The project is to take 20 working days, with the starting date to be announced later, Rose said.

Rose added the Mayfield company also has a contract to pave the new middle school lot.

Several guests attended the meeting with presentations to the board members.

Charles Lassiter addressed the board members on the current school bus problem. Lassiter stated the school bus population has shifted in several areas, creating a need to revise some routes.

He added that the rising price of gasoline has caused more juniors and seniors to ride buses than in past years. Lassiter said most of the bus problems have been alleviated.

Johnny Bohannon, of the Title I program, explained to the board there was a low number of students in the program at Southwest Elementary. He added that he felt it might be necessary for the Title I teacher to assume additional responsibilities.

The teacher possibly could receive a salary from Title I funds for six periods and from school funds for one period. The Title I program emphasizes reading, Bohannon said.

Bonnie Nute, of the gifted and talented program, gave an explanation of the program to the board and said students were currently being screened. She added that 353 students are eligible for the program. Nute said she hoped 250 would be accepted.

Nancy Lovett reviewed the $50,000 "Project Opportunity" grant with the board members. Recently, the Calloway school system received one of two grants funded from the Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children of the State Department of Education.

Lovett said the project prepares secondary handicapped students for successful living and economic self-sufficiency. She added it combines a work-study program with in-class learnings and actual on-the-job training.

Rose said Hopkins County received the other grant.

The board members voted to purchase three 65-passenger buses, three 71-passenger buses and one bus equipped to transport handicapped children.

The salary schedule was also approved by the board.

Concerning personnel matters, the board accepted the resignation of Ron McAllister, assistant superintendent. McAllister submitted his resignation Sept. 4 to be effective July 1, 1980. He added a request to be reassigned as a classroom teacher.

The board also accepted the resignation of Maj. Freeman Dallas, senior JROTC instructor.

In other action, the board members approved the transfers of Alanna

Garrison from middle school learning disabilities to the TMH unit housed at Murray State University and Freed Curd from the high school to the homebound unit.

It was voted that Vanda Gibson, kindergarten, MSU Early Childhood Education Center; Betty Gore, kindergarten, Southwest Elementary; and Mary Wyatt and Pam Harwood, special education, MSU Special Education Building; are to be under the supervision of the Southwest Elementary administration.

The following were approved by the board members: Wanda Johnson, temporary position replacing Curd; Bobby Holland, junior JROTC instructor; Billy Hutson, senior JROTC instructor; Christina Thompson, from 5 time to 7 time; Janice Hasty, Title I Readiness, East Elementary; Nancy Schemp, from 5 to full time; Rhonda Shanklin, replacement for Garrison.

Nute was approved as a coordinator of the gifted and talented program.

Substitute teachers approved were James G. Burnett, Cynthia Y. Dyer, Carmon Parks, Lynda Shouse, Carol Underwood, Alice Clark, Betty Farmer Lyons, Frances Pinkley, Dana G.

Stonecipher, Pam Vancil, Clara Williams and Carol McKee.

Debbie Colson, Cathy Allen, Cindy Maness and Marcia Yontz were approved as teachers' aides. Rose said funds for these individuals will be provided by Title VI-B.

The board approved Toni Jones, Donna Roberts, Diana Ruccio, Dawn Kinsolving and Carolyn Manning as substitute secretaries.

A $500 supplement to elementary school coaches for work with the athletic program was approved.

Terry Rogers, Jewell Dunn, Melesa Ramsey and Opal Galloway were approved as bus drivers.

The board accepted Joe Thornton, Thomas Dowdy, Joe Bowden, Gary Morris, Delbert Underhill, Hal Winchester, Catherine Glass, Jeff Dowdy and Owen Garrison as substitute bus drivers.

The following were accepted as substitute cafeteria personnel: Linda Workman, Dorothy Cooper, Eupile Bean, Ola Outland, Jennifer Hill, Diana Ruccio, Katie Charlton, Betty Roberts, Helen Clauff, Vurlene Marr, Sandra Stephens, Virginia Galloway, Sue Emerson, Louise Kimbro and Sara Waldrop.

County Man Killed In Tractor Accident

A 70-year-old Calloway County man, William Burbon Allbritten, was killed late Thursday afternoon when his tractor turned over on him while he was attempting to move a piece of farm equipment.

Allbritten, of Route 5, Murray, was pronounced dead at his farm on Highway 121 South at 6:25 p.m. by deputy coroner Jerry Gorrell.

According to Gorrell, Allbritten had apparently hooked a piece of farm equipment on the back of his tractor in order to move it. When he tried to pull it, the front of the tractor came up and turned over on him.

Gorrell said that Allbritten was killed instantly and estimated that he had been dead approximately 30 minutes when his daughter, Mrs. Richard Henninger, found him. Mrs. Henninger and her family live on the farm.

In addition to the deputy coroner, the Calloway County sheriff's department and the Kentucky State Police investigated the accident.

Allbritten retired in 1970 after 30 years of service as a die setter for the Chrysler Corporation, Detroit, Mich. He and his wife, the former Sara Ann, to whom he was married on Jan. 25, 1936, returned to Calloway County to reside after his retirement.

He was a member and deacon of the Eastwood Baptist Church. Born May 6, 1909, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late Blufford Allbritten and Nola Marr Allbritten.

Survivors include his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Richard (Judith Ann) Henninger, and three grandchildren—Rick, Beth, and Tom Henninger, all of Route 5, Murray; and one son, William R. Allbritten, Chatham, N. J.

Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. John T. (Robbie) Bucy, 701 Earl Court, Murray; four brothers—Leon and I. B. Allbritten, Cairo, Ill.; Wendell Allbritten, Route 5, Murray; and James Max Allbritten, Madison Heights, Mich.

The funeral will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Eastwood Baptist Church with the Rev. John W. Terry and the Rev. Dr. Bill Whittaker officiating.

Burial will follow in the New Concord Cemetery with the arrangements by the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home where friends may call from 2:30 p.m. today (Friday) until 1 p.m. Saturday when the body will be taken to the Eastwood Church to lie in state until the funeral hour.

To Be Developed Into Golf Course

Murray State University Receives 173-Acre Farm

A 173-acre Calloway County farm has been given to Murray State University to be developed into a golf course with related facilities for its students, faculty and staff.

Initial announcement of the gift, valued at approximately $200,000, was made by Murray President Constantine W. Curris at a recent general faculty meeting beginning the 1979-80 academic year at the university.

Curris identified the donor as L. D. Miller of Murray, a 1937 graduate of the university.

Miller, a native of the Lynn Grove area of Calloway County, was an employee and part owner of the Graham-Jackson men's clothing store in Murray for 22 years before becoming secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce, where he served for two years. Since 1958, the year of its inception, he has been director of the Murray Housing Authority.

In making the gift, Miller listed two provisions: That an 18-hole golf course be constructed on the property for the primary use of Murray State students, faculty and staff, and that the facility be named in memory of his wife, the late Frances Emerson Miller.

Mrs. Miller, a native of Mayfield, attended Murray State and a girl's school at Murfreesboro, Tenn. An avid golfer and a well-known Murrayan, she died Dec. 28, 1977, at the age of 61.

An employee of the Murray Wholesale Grocery Co. for five years, Mrs. Miller was an active member of the Zeta Department of the Murray Women's Club and the Esther Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church. During World War II, she was supervisor of the payroll department of the National Fireworks plant, an ammunition facility near Viola in Graves County.

The farm, Curris said, is located six miles east of the campus on the Panorama Shores road. Its gently rolling terrain is free of erosion, has surface water and is in grass with exception of 65 acres of soybeans and five acres of tobacco.

In deeding the property to the university several months ago, Miller, one of the county's most outstanding basketball players before he lost a leg in a mowing accident at the age of 17, said: "Murray State has long meant a lot to me, and I am proud to be one of its graduates. I never would have been able to have completed my education in the 1930's had it not been for the 10-cents-an-hour job given me on the campus to help me pay my way."

"And," he continued, "I wasn't alone. A lot of Calloway Countians were in the same position. Murray State has meant much to the business and social life of Murray, Calloway County and this entire region. Basically, it is because of the university's presence in this community that this expression of personal appreciation on my part has been made possible."

Curris called the Miller gift, the second largest ever made to the university, "a tremendous expression of support for the institution," and pledged every effort to develop the property in accordance with the donor's wishes.

The largest gift ever made to the university was one of approximately $250,000, received in 1973 from the estate of the late James Leland Hurley, a Marshall County native and for many years a construction executive in Detroit, Mich., and with which an extensive scholarship program has been established at the university.

Although there are two private 18-hole golf courses in the Murray area, Murray State students, with exception of the golf team which practices and plays through a fee arrangement at the Murray Country Club, must travel from 20 to 35 miles to the public courses in the Kentucky Lake area to play golf.

Raymond T. (Buddy) Hewitt, since 1961 Murray State's golf coach, called the gift "a dream come true."

"It gives me cold chills simply to think that eventually we will have a facility of this type at Murray State," he said.

It has been proven on campuses across the country, he went on, that a golf facility not only is "a tremendous asset" to student recruitment, but also in the recruitment of faculty and staff.

Of the eight tax-supported, four-year institutions in Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State University have and operate their own golf courses. Western Kentucky University is in the development stages with one, having the land and with plans for a course on the drawing board.

University of Kentucky golfers practice and play their home tournaments on several courses in the Lexington area, generally on the exclusive Greenbriar Country Club.

Curris also announced the establishment of a seven-member committee, headed by Dr. S. M. Matarazzo, the faculty representative on the board of regents, which has been authorized by the regents and trustees of the Murray State Foundation to secure necessary professional services and to develop plans for the facility in accordance with the donor's wishes.

Others named to the committee include:

James A. Davis, Point Clear, Ala., and a former member of the board of regents.

Bob T. Long, Mayfield, a member of the board of regents.

Dr. Marshall Gordon, vice-president for university services and a trustee of the Murray State Foundation, which will administer the project.

Mrs. Anne Wrather Hoke, Murray, a 1968 graduate and also a member of the foundation board of trustees.

M. C. Garrett, director of information and public services at the university, and Hewitt.

Working with the committee is Dr. Thomas B. Hogancamp, executive director of the Foundation, and Larry Bartlett, director of campus planning.

The next meeting of the committee has been set for Saturday, Sept. 15, at which time a recommendation naming an architect to design the proposed course is expected to be made.

A sub-committee, composed of Davis, Hewitt, Garrett and Bartlett, has been appointed to recommend an architect for the project.

Carter Announces Plans Of Missile Deployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter announced plans today for a $33 billion deployment of 200 new MX mobile missiles around protected "racetrack" courses in the West.

Carter told reporters the system will survive surprise attack. He said it will be verifiable under arms control agreements, affordable, environmentally sound and be consistent with future arms curb objectives.

Although senior administration officials reached a consensus on the plan a month ago, a formal announcement was delayed pending a final presidential decision as well as consultations with governors and others in the affected states.

Carter agreed with his advisers that the "racetrack" option would minimize disruption of the countryside while protecting the large new missiles from destruction should the Soviet Union ever launch a surprise attack.

The president decided in June to develop the 190,000-pound missiles, largest in the U.S. arsenal, but withheld a decision on how they would be moved and protected.

The approved option would place the missiles and their 700,000-pound transporters on a series of surface roads, forming closed courses not unlike angular racetracks. Each "racetrack" would have a series of 23 hardened, buried shelters, built on spur roads along the course.

Bowen & Greer Vows Read On Frazier Lawn

The wedding of Miss Wanda Bowen, daughter of Bill Bowen and the late Vickie Jo Bowen, and Micheal Greer, eldest son of Fred and Juanita Greer, was solemnized in an afternoon summer ceremony on the lawn of the bride's great uncle and aunt, Jim and Dell Frazier.

At 5 p.m. the ceremony was read at an improvised altar at the entry of a little log cabin more than 100 years old on the Frazier farm. The porch posts served as an arch and were entwined with ivy and shasta daisies. A white satin bow held satin wedding bells edged in seed pearls which was placed at the center top of the arch. Urns of shasta daisies, Queen Anne's lace, and ivy from the Frazier garden were placed on each side along with Boston ferns.

The Rev. Eddie Waldrop, uncle of the groom, performed the double ceremony. Before starting the ceremony Rev. Waldrop faced the audience and led in prayer.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by an uncle, Eddie Hamlet, wore a formal gown of ivory satin trimmed with lace, and a short mantilla veil. Her jewelry was a tiny gold chain with a single pearl, and pearl earrings.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white shasta daisies, Queen Anne's lace, and ivy tied with satin streamers.

Miss Fay Greer, sister of the groom, was the bride's attendant. She wore a formal gown of sky blue satin trimmed in daisy lace, and carried a nosegay of white shasta daisies, Queen Anne's lace, and ivy tied with yellow and white satin streamers in love knots.

Mark Howard was best man for Mr. Greer. The men were attired in navy blue three piece suits, pale blue shirts, and navy blue ties. Their boutonnieres were white shasta daisies.

Mrs. Greer, mother of the groom, wore a formal length gown of mauve silesta knit edged in matching lace. She wore a corsage of mauve Queen Anne's lace, white shasta daisies, and ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. Micheal Greer

Reception

After the ceremony the reception was held on a large sheltered patio at the Frazier home.

The serving table was covered in ivory satin under an Ivory lace cloth. The centerpiece was a floral arrangement of white shasta daisies, Queen Anne's lace, and ivy in a crystal bowl flanked by candles in crystal candle holders.

Columns held the three tiered ivory wedding cake decorated with white and yellow daisies and miniature white doves. The top tier was adorned with wedding bells and daisies. Sherbert and fruit punch were served from a crystal punch bowl.

Centering the bride's table, covered with ivory lace, was an arrangement of daisies and ivy.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Betty Elkins, Mrs. Fay Albin, and Mrs. Dulsie

Howard. Miss Sheila Litcheff presided at the guest register table. They all had daisy corsages.

Yellow and white net rice bags were distributed to the guests. Organ music was provided by Mrs. Inis Frazier.

The couple left for a wedding trip and are now residing at their home, Route 1, Box 100-A, Calvert City.

Both the bride and groom are 1978 graduates of Marshall County High School. Mrs. Greer is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hamlet. The groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lexy Waldrop and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Greer.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

She's Dumb— But No Dummy

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17 year old girl who needs some advice on several things having to do with sex and pregnancy. My mother has never told me anything. Of course I know WHAT is done, but I would like to know if there is any way a girl can go all the way without getting pregnant.

I have heard about the Pill, but I don't know where to get any or how they are used. If I walk into a drugstore, will they sell me some? Are there instructions on the bottle?

I have also heard that there is a certain time of the month when a girl is "safe." When is that time? We studied it in biology class, but were told we shouldn't depend on it because it is not 100 percent safe. I am really confused.

I have been told that some boys use something. The guy doesn't have to worry about getting pregnant, so what are they for? I hate to sound dumb, but I would like to know the answers to these questions and I don't know who else to ask.

A POORLY INFORMED GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Your questions are good and you deserve straight answers. Phone your local PLANNED PARENTHOOD office and ask for an appointment to see a "teen counselor" about birth control information. If you're old enough to ask, you're old enough to know.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the young mother whose 20-month-old child screamed and trembled every time a vacuum cleaner was turned on brought back memories.

I went through the same thing with my son, John, now 21. When John was an infant he not only screamed whenever I used the vacuum cleaner, he would double up in pain. He reacted the same way to power tools and other high pitched noises.

The doctor said he probably would outgrow it and I should try to get him used to it. It didn't work. Sometimes the noise would make Johnny physically sick and the poor kid would throw up. I finally put away the vacuum cleaner and used a carpet sweeper instead.

I raised four kids, and Johnny was the only one with this problem.

E.T. IN N.J.

DEAR E.T.: I heard from several ear specialists that some children are born with an extremely high sensitivity to loud noises. They suffer severe pain when subjected to them and should not be forced to "get used to it." (Some outgrow this sensitivity and some do not.)

A child who reacts violently to loud noises should be examined by an ear specialist.

DEAR ABBY: Out of the blue, my sister's husband (I'll call him Neville) has asked her for a divorce. They're both 50 and have three married children.

Neville teaches English to foreigners, and it seems he has fallen in love with a 28 year old pupil.

I have always gotten on quite well with Neville, so he keeps ringing me up to ask when he can bring his girlfriend over to meet me. I always give him some kind of excuse: "Sorry, not tonight, I have another engagement," etc. Soon I'll run out of excuses.

My sister is very upset over what her husband has done, and so am I. Furthermore, I am not the least bit interested in meeting his young girlfriend.

How can I handle this without hurting his feelings?

CANADIAN READER

DEAR READER: Why look for "excuses" when you have a perfectly legitimate reason? Tell Neville that you don't care to meet his girlfriend. And don't worry about his feelings. He seems well able to take care of himself.

How about a lift in the middle of the week?

It's so encouraging to hear people tell the healing they've had from trusting God's care. To hear uplifting readings from the Bible, and from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. To join together in hymns of joy.

There's nothing like it for some midweek inspiration. We'd love to see you there.

Space Fantasy Nears Reality

Neither the Americans nor the Russians have a monopoly on ideas for future use of space technology. Scientific journals in both countries talk about space stations generating solar electricity and beaming it down to earth. They publish sketches of factories and laboratories in orbit, and space platforms to launch human voyagers on years-long trips to the planets.

All of this seems a bit closer with the return to earth of two Soviet cosmonauts, apparently in good health, after spending almost six months in the weightless world of their Salyut space station. Their 175 days in orbit broke the space endurance record set by a previous Salyut crew, and compares with the 84 days which was the limit spent by a crew of U.S. astronauts aboard Skylab in 1973-74.

The Russians appear to be laying the groundwork for some of those future projects. We will find out when Moscow chooses to let us know.

Our own manned space program remains in hibernation. The Space Shuttle, which will send astronauts into orbit for the first time since 1975, has run into developmental problems delaying its first launch. Originally scheduled for this year, the test is now set for next July at the earliest.

The reusable shuttle will open the way for frequent, relatively inexpensive missions carrying people and materials into orbit. The Russians have been going down a different track. Their program seems to envision putting crews in space stations for prolonged periods, using an unmanned cargo ship to ferry up supplies.

Whatever direction U.S.-Soviet relations may take here on earth, it is evident our spacecraft will be traveling the same stellar freeways in the 1980s and beyond. We can hope that the next chapters in the space story are inspired more by the friendly spirit of the joint Apollo-Soyuz mission of 1975, and not by the script of "Star Wars."

Understanding The Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — With the U.S. government's public debt now amounting to $813,140,000,000, it might seem odd that it should be asked to bail out Chrysler Corp., which may lose only $600 million this year.

That, however, is the unusual way in which things add up these days. If recent events seem illogical don't blame yourself and search more deeply for the hidden explanation. It may not be there.

Those numbers, for example, are real. The government will run a $30 billion deficit this year. It pays more than $4 billion a month just to maintain its debt — not to reduce it, but merely to pay the charges.

But reality may not count. This year's budget deficit, one of the biggest ever, is said by President Carter to be tight. And Washington last week guaranteed a loan of more than $100 million to a private company — Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Co., which plans some of the money for a new rail facility.

Bethlehem Steel, meanwhile, says so much railmaking capacity already exists that its workers are idle.

Carter claims to have made the control of inflation his top economic priority. But in Davenport, Iowa, he interrupted his recent riverboat cruise to ask people to consider paying more, not less, for goods.

The appeal was part of a pitch for American-made goods. Buy American, he said, and you'll help reduce the imbalance in U.S. international payments. And, he might have added, give a boost to inflation.

The term "windfall profits" has been used in regard to the potential profits to oil companies from the market imbalance in supplies of energy. Unearned and undeserved, said the president.

If that is so, what then should we call the billions of tax dollars that will accrue to the federal government not because of higher real incomes — personal income has been declining — but because inflation simply boosted incomes into higher, more costly tax brackets?

The confusion involves the private sector also.

A securities firm advertises, for example, that you can put inflation to work for you by investing in a debt security that might pay nearly 10 percent. Yes, but inflation is 13 percent.

Sunday School Lesson

By H.C. Chiles

God's Saving Acts

God demonstrated His great love for His people in the numerous acts which He performed in their behalf, but they rebelled repeatedly against Him and refused to do what He commanded them.

Deuteronomy 26:5-11

Some Israelites went to Egypt for the purpose of purchasing grain for human consumption, and later they found themselves in slavery there, something which they had not anticipated.

While they were in Egypt their increase in population was so rapid that the Egyptians thought of them in terms of a threat to their security, and especially if they should join forces with their foes. Terrible hardships were inflicted upon them by the Egyptians. Because oppressive measures were used against them, the afflicted people kept on crying unto the Lord, Who was their only hope of deliverance. Out of deep concern for their welfare, God heard their cry to the extent that He performed mighty acts or miracles in order to deliver them from cruel bondage.

Like everything which He does, God used miraculous power to deliver the oppressed Israelites for a purpose. He brought them out of Egypt in order that He might bring them into the land which He had promised them. In this good land, which was both fertile and fruitful, God made splendid provision for the needs of His people.

Thankful to God for His acts of mercy and judgment in delivering them from bondage and gathering them into the fruitful land of Canaan, the Israelites memorialized what He had done by the observance of "The Ceremony at the Presentation of First Fruits," and derived great joy from doing so.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: Could you tell me how to go about getting Medicare? — M.P.

If you are fully insured under Social Security, you may apply for Medicare at a Social Security office three months before your 65th birthday (or at any age if you have been eligible for Social Security disability benefits for 24 months). "Fully insured" means that you have enough quarters of Social Security coverage to be eligible for, or to be receiving, Social Security retirement or disability benefits.

If you are not fully insured under Social Security but your spouse is, you would be eligible for Medicare under your spouse's work record. However, your spouse must be at least age 62 and have signed up for Social Security, or be drawing a Social Security benefit before you are eligible for Medicare on a spouse's record.

If neither you nor your spouse is fully insured under Social Security and are not eligible for a Social Security benefit, then your option is to purchase Medicare coverage in the same way you would purchase private health insurance coverage and pay the monthly premiums. Medicare is fairly expensive if you must purchase it outright. For information on the monthly premium charges of Medicare, contact your nearest Social Security office.

HEARTLINE: After 22 years of marriage, I was divorced. I raised two children by myself with no assistance from my ex-husband. Then, after 17 years, I remarried, and it has lasted three months. If I should divorce this man, would I be able to get my first husband's benefits from Black Lung? — N.G.

If you divorce your present husband, you should apply to your nearest Department of Labor Black Lung Office or at your Social Security office for divorced wife's benefits.

We were told that you would probably be eligible for Black Lung if there had been at one time a court order for your first husband to pay you any amount of alimony. Or, even if there was no court order, you could be eligible if your first husband voluntarily assisted you financially by providing half or more of your income.

Your children are possibly eligible whether their father did or did not pay you alimony. In fact, the children might be eligible even if you do not divorce your current husband of three months. However, the children would have to either be under the age of 18, or under the age of 22 if they are still full-time students.

HEARTLINE: I recently read where a death benefit is paid if a person dies before he has ever claimed any payments from Social Security. Our son passed away in 1965. We never heard from the Social Security office regarding this payment. Also, if he was not eligible for a death benefit, what happens to the monies he paid in? It seems unfair that none of this is ever returned. — V.B.

There is currently a $255 death benefit payable to survivors of persons who die before retirement or who are fully insured and drawing Social Security retirement. If your son was fully insured under Social Security, he may have been eligible for a death benefit. However, there is a time limit on filing a claim and it is highly doubtful that you would be able to collect it at this late date. Any monies your son paid in will be in his name in the event he has a widow or children who may draw on his account. If he did not have a wife or children, then the monies he paid in will be placed in the General Fund.

DO TEA FACTORY WORKERS GET A COFFEE BREAK?

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

Moonlight schools were being conducted over the county in cooperation with the state-wide campaign to eliminate illiteracy in the commonwealth. The effort was less than a moderate success in the county.

Murray High installed a sewerage system, steam heating facilities and re-structuring of the auditorium. Few modern day folks can fully appreciate the significance of these improvements, but for those who benefitted they were tremendous.

A proposal to build a new city and county library fell on deaf ears despite financing the Carnegie Foundation would underwrite $5 for every $1 invested by the county in providing a lot and moderate sustaining tax.

A devastating drought came on the heels of the outbreak of European hostilities adding to the county's woes. Quite a number of prayer meetings were held in the county this year pleading deliverance from the devastation of dry weather. A good Primitive Baptist minister said when it was suggested by his members to invoke divine providence to send a shower said: "Brethren, I think this is a very unfavorable time to pray for rain; the moon isn't right for it."

The dry weather reached on down into the late fall months, consequently an extensive loss to farmers. In addition, war conditions caused a suspension of purchase of county tobacco normally bought for export. Even the mussel shell industry was affected with several thousand tons of shells lying on the banks of Tennessee River.

Because of the inability of farmers to meet debt obligations, war conditions, and the dry spell, the Citizens Bank was ordered closed Oct. 26, 1914, by the state banking commissioner, the first bank closing in the county. The affiliate association of the Bank of Hazel with the Citizens Bank resulted in the closing of the Hazel bank on Oct. 28. Caught in the domino action was the Kentucky Tobacco Works in Murray which had operated here for years. The Citizens Bank closing had forced the little company out of manufacturing chewing and smoking tobaccos.

What Makes A Father?

It takes more than the birth of a child to make a father.

Something miraculous happens when a man realizes he is really a father. It may happen when he holds the baby in his arms for the first time or when he sees its first radiant smile. Suddenly a man realizes that he is responsible for another human life. He knows that the kind of person he is, will determine the kind of person his son or daughter will become. The values that he holds become more important than ever.

It is often at this point in life, that many men seek to re-establish their church affiliation for they need the guidance of their church more than ever.

Whether you're a new father of one of long standing attend the church of your choice this week. It will make you a better father.

Quarterback Winston Ford, just a freshman, should see plenty of action Saturday at Evansville. He and sophomore Ricky Ray are battling for the No. 1 signal-calling spot.

Passing To Be The Key When Evansville, Murray Square Off On Saturday

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — University of Evansville coach John Moses says it's going to happen, and Murray State coach Mike Gottfried says he will welcome it. Thus, the pass and a defense against it will likely play huge roles Saturday when the Aces and Racers square off in Evansville's Central Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

"We need to be thrown on a lot early in the year," says Gottfried. "It can't help but improve us when our conference games begin."

The Racer pass defense was shelled last week for 306 yards in Murray's season-opening tie against Southeast Missouri. And, though Evansville was stunned 15-10 by Georgetown College, quarterback Scott Topczewski enjoyed a productive day. He completed 11 of 21 passes for 156 yards.

"He's really a talented passer," Moses said by phone today. "And will the Aces throw against Murray? We feel like we have to throw the ball against them," he said. "They're going to be physically superior to us, so we have to do something — like pass — to try and offset it."

While the pronunciation of the name of Topczewski, a 6-2, 190-pound senior is difficult to remember, it's hard to forget his performance last year in Roy Stewart Stadium. He completed 21 of 38 passes for 211 yards. Still, the Racers roared to a 23-9 victory.

"We capitalized on their mistakes in that game," recalled Gottfried. "And that's something we didn't do after the first quarter against SEMO. What we're looking for offensively is consistency. We've tried to mentally prepare ourselves this week in that area."

"We know they have very strong running backs and a quick defense," says Moses, whose squad finished 3-7 last season and 2-3 in the Heartland Collegiate Conference.

Evansville trailed Georgetown 9-7 in the third quarter, but it gained a first down at the opponents' two-foot line. A penalty pushed the Aces back to the six, though, and they were forced to settle for a field goal.

Georgetown then promptly marched the length of the field, converting plays of third and 11, third and 10 and third and seven to keep its drive alive and scored the winning touchdown with three minutes left.

"We didn't play too badly (against Georgetown)," said Moses. "That offside penalty killed us, and we had some dropped passes hurt us in key situations. But some good things happened, too."

Two Murray quarterbacks — sophomore Ricky Ray and freshman Winston Ford — will likely see considerable playing time against the Aces. Ray tossed two touchdown passes before going down with a leg cramp against SEMO. He will be at full strength, though, Saturday.

Ford, though he saw only limited action last week, enjoyed an excellent week of practice and is pressing Ray for the No. 1 spot.

Murray leads its series with Evansville 15-7.

The verdict on the injury to Tony Boone is still out, but he will definitely miss the game Saturday. Boone, a senior linebacker, injured a knee in the third quarter against SEMO.

With George Turnley (5-9, 190) out with a bruised calf muscle, the Racers' experienced fullback number has been reduced to two — Tony Lester and Kenny Davis. Gottfried also says that tailback Nick Nance will see more playing time, along with Danny Lee Johnson and Lindsey Hudspeth.

Two Marshall County High players, freshmen Neal Williams (6-1, 190) and Jim Piercefield will make the trip. Both are cornerbacks.

The defensive unit, led by co-captain Terry Love (above), who blocked a Southeast Missouri field-goal try late in the fourth quarter to help Murray State salvage a tie last week, will receive a stern test when a pass-oriented Evansville squad plays the Racers Saturday.

Rams Use Morton Fumble To Scoot Past Broncos 13-9

By the Associated Press

DENVER — Four days earlier, the Los Angeles Rams had lost a game because of costly turnovers — two blocked punts, a fumbled punt return and three interceptions, to be exact.

Thursday night, the Rams got even when linebacker Jack Reynolds scooped up a fumble by Denver quarterback Craig Morton and staggered four yards into the end zone for the clinching touchdown in a 13-9 National Football League victory.

"I was amazed to see the ball pop out," said Reynolds after scoring the first touchdown of his 10-year pro career.

"It was just lying on the floor. I concentrated on falling on the ball. Everybody down there just picked me up and moved me on my way."

Of his lurching run into the end zone, Reynolds said, "I call it 'run, stumble and score.'"

The key turnover, which came with nine minutes left in the game, was produced by Dave Elmendorf's safety blitz. Elmendorf slammed into Morton, who had dropped back to pass from the Bronco 16-yard line, and the ball came loose.

"It was a normal safety blitz — I just went to the outside," said Elmendorf.

Los Angeles Coach Ray

Malavasi explained that his team had used the safety blitz at least once in the first half, against Denver starter Norris Weese. "But obviously it didn't work as well as it did against Morton on the touchdown play," said Malavasi.

Morton had replaced Weese in the third quarter, and he promptly ignited a sluggish Bronco offense. Hitting passes of 25 yards to Jack Dolbin and 16 yards to Riley Odoms, Morton drove Denver to its only touchdown late in the third period. Dave Preston sliced 7 yards off the left side for the score, giving Denver a 9-6 lead.

But the Bronco offense was finished after that, principally because the rampaging Rams defense sacked Morton five times in the final period, including the touchdown play by Reynolds.

"They blitzed about as much as we thought they would," said Denver Coach Red Miller. "We let too many of them get past, but you have to give the Rams credit — they have a great defense."

Pat Haden's pinpoint passing had staked Los Angeles to a 6-0 first-quarter lead. Haden completed all four of his passes on a drive that culminated in Frank Corral's 30-yard field goal early in the game.

On their next series, Haden hit on four of five passes, and Corral connected from 34 yards away.

The Broncos cut the deficit to 6-2 on a rare end-zone penalty. On a pass play from deep in Los Angeles territory, Rams offensive guard John Williams was whistled for holding in the end zone, which constitutes a safety.

Denver threatened to score again moments later after Rick Upchurch caught a 44-yard pass from Weese. But three straight incomplete passes forced the Broncos to line up for a field-goal attempt at the Los Angeles 16.

Junior High Jamboree Set For Saturday

The Benton-Mayfield clash will kick off a junior-high football jamboree Saturday night at MSU's Roy Stewart Stadium.

The two teams will square off at 7 p.m., followed by Murray Middle against Paris Grove, Tenn., at 7:45 and Calloway County Middle against Union City, Tenn., at 8:30.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Strange Tournament

Semifinalist McEnroe Has Endured Wacky Open

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — It has been a strange U.S. Open for John McEnroe.

In five matches, he's already had one opponent call in sick and another come up lame. He's been involved in one of the most tumultuous matches in Open history, the four-set triumph over Ilie Nastase in which the crowd became so unruly as to disrupt play for 15 minutes and lead to the removal of umpire Frank Hammond.

And it's not going to get any simpler.

On Saturday McEnroe will face defending champion Jimmy Connors in one Open semifinal. A year ago, in the same situation, Connors won in straight sets, but the 20-year-old McEnroe promises this time it will be different.

"Now I know I can beat him," McEnroe said.

McEnroe, the No. 3 seed, earned his chance when ninth-seeded Eddie Dibbs retired in the fourth game of their quarterfinal match Thursday. Dibbs complained of a pain in his lower back that prevented him from running as well as usual.

Highlighting today's program was the women's semifinal between two of the premier personalities in the game — top-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd, who is seeking her fifth consecutive Open title, and ninth-seeded Billie Jean King, who won four Open crowns between 1967 and 1974.

In Thursday's other men's match, No. 4 seed Vitas Gerulaitis beat unseeded Johan Kriek of South Africa 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. Gerulaitis will meet fifth-seeded Roscoe Tanner, conqueror of No. 1 Bjorn Borg, on Saturday.

In women's action, No. 3 Tracy Austin clobbered unseeded Sylvia Hanika of West Germany 6-1, 6-1, and top-rated Martina Navratilova defeated Kerry Reid of Australia 6-4, 6-1. Those two winners also meet Saturday.

Thursday's results mean there are eight men and women still in the running for the Open singles titles — and all eight are Americans.

Howe, 3 Others Reach MCC Match Play Finals

Red Howe, Jr., Clyde Adkins, Mike Holton and David Buckingham have reached the semifinal brackets as the championship flight of the men's match play tournament at the Murray Country Club nears a climax.

Howe defeated Tom Muehleman 4 and 3 to advance to a semi-final line opposite Adkins, a one-up winner over Lynn Sullivan. The winner of this match will meet the Holton-Buckingham winner in the lower bracket for the championship.

Holton advanced with a one-up win over young Tommy Fike, while Buckingham posted a par-shattering round to eliminate Lynn Gunter.

In the first flight, Jim Brannon has reached the finals with a first-round win over Burton Young, a match which took 20 holes to complete, a win over Richard Knight in the second round and over Bob McGaughey in the semi-finals 3 and 2. McGaughey had earlier defeated Bob Billington who won his first round match over Virgil Harris.

In the lower brackets of the flight, Raz Villanova is in the semi-finals with a 4 and 2 win over Gene Landolt, and where he waits the winner of the Lawrence Philpot-Sam Spiceland match in the second round.

In the second flight, Gene McCutcheon defeated Robert Billington 4 and 3 to advance to the final in the upper bracket. McCutcheon will face the winner of the semifinal match between Holmes Ellis and Jerry Grogan for the top spot in that flight.

McCutcheon advanced with a one-up win over Al Jones in the first round and a 4 and 3 win over Scott Seiber in the second. Billington advanced to the semi-finals with two consecutive forfeits — from Barry Wells in the first round and from Jim Berry in the second.

In the lower bracket of the second flight, Grogan defeated Walter Jones in the opening round and Vernon Cohoon in the second. Cohoon was one-up winner over Tom Emerson in the first round. Ellis reached the semifinals with a bye in the first round and a win over Keith Morris in the second round. Morris advanced on a forfeit from W. A. Franklin who has moved out of town.

In the third flight, E. W. Dennison has reached the semi-final bracket with a forfeit from Jerry Berry after eliminating Ron Cella one up in the first round. He awaits the winner of the Johnnie Gingles-Rob Miller match in the second round.

In the lower brackets of the third flight, David Graham has reached the semi-finals after receiving a first-round bye and eliminating Dub Polly in the second round. He awaits the Jim Pickens-Wally McMillan winner from their second-round match.

Mel Won't Be Around, But Director Says Level Of Play To Be Excellent

Defending champion Mel Purcell won't be on hand, but Bennie Purcell still feels the talent will be strong when the annual Kentucky Hardcourt tennis championships begin Saturday morning at the MSU tennis complex.

Mel, the winner for the past four years, competed in the U.S. Open and is currently in New York wrapping up another tennis event, says his dad, Bennie.

The top seed for the men's open draw will likely be Western Kentucky's Jorge Alemparte, the 1979 Ohio Valley Conference singles champion, says Purcell.

Also present will be members of the Racer tennis team and several other college players from the area. "I feel like there will be some outstanding tennis this weekend," he said.

The men's 35s will feature Murrayan Eddie Hunt and Bowling Green's Henry Baughman, two players who have met in several finals over the years.

In the men's 45s, Paul Rowton of Paducah and Purcell, the Murray State tennis coach, will be the top-seeded players.

The finals in all three divisions are set for approximately 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Feix, Kidd Say Injuries Are Hurting

By the Associated Press

Jimmy Feix and Roy Kidd are worrying as much about injuries as they are about the opponents their respective football teams will play Saturday.

Feix' Western Kentucky Hilltoppers, defending Ohio Valley Conference champions, open on the road against Chattanooga while Kidd's Eastern Kentucky Colonels, last year's runner-up and this season's title favorite, heads in the opposite direction to play Kent State.

Although Western returns many of the key players who carved a surprising 8-2 record last year, Feix is worried over every scratch and scrape.

"We're so thin personnel-wise, we hold our breath in case of injuries," he said.

As for Kidd, it's a case of hoping his veteran defensive unit can do some scoring against Kent State, because it is in Eastern's inexperienced offensive unit, as luck would have it, that most of the preseason injuries have occurred.

Richard's Gem Propels Houston; Expos Record 10th Straight Triumph

By the Associated Press
You've got to hand it to J.R. Richard. Houston Manager Bill Virdon does every fifth day.

One of the most successful pitchers in baseball since the All-Star break, the mountainous right-hander continues to mow them down with his formidable "heat."

Thursday night, he recorded his ninth victory in his last 10 starts with a 2-0, three-hit beauty over the San Diego Padres. Richard struck out nine batters to raise his major league lead to 258 for the season.

Pitching every fifth day as he does, Richard will have an opportunity to reach the 20-victory plateau. He's won 16 games thus far and seems unstoppable the way he's going of late. Richard has not allowed an earned run in 37 straight innings.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal nipped Chicago 1-0; Cincinnati routed San Francisco 12-3; Atlanta whipped Los Angeles 6-2; New York beat Philadelphia 5-3 in the opener of a double-header before dropping the second game 2-1 and St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 8-6.

In Thursday night's AL games, Baltimore defeated Toronto 5-0; New York stopped Detroit 3-1 and California edged Chicago 10-9.

Expos 1, Cubs 0 — Dave Palmer and Woodie Fryman combined to pitch a six-hitter and Gary Carter slugged a home run with one out in the ninth inning to lead Montreal over Chicago. It was the hot Expos' 10th straight victory. Carter's 20th homer broke up a pitching duel between Palmer, 8-2, and loser Lynn McGlothen, 11-11.

Orioles 5, Blue Jays 0 — Baltimore whipped Toronto for the 15th consecutive time and increased its AL East lead to 9½ games over idle Milwaukee.

Eddie Murray drove in two Baltimore runs on an infield grounder and a sacrifice fly to support the five-hit pitching of Dennis Martinez, 15-12.

Reds 12, Giants 3 — Johnny Bench, Dan Driessen, Dave Concepcion and George Foster homered in the first two innings to get Cincinnati off winging against San Francisco, spoiling Dave Bristol's first game as Giants manager. Tom Seaver, 14-6, allowed Rob Andrews' first two home runs of the season but won his 12th game in the last 13 decisions. Loser Bob Knepper, 9-11, lasted only one-third of an inning and left trailing 6-0.

Braves 6, Dodgers 2 — Eddie Miller hit three singles, followed each with a stolen base and scored all three times and Bob Horner batted in three runs to lead Atlanta over Los Angeles.

Mets 5-1, Phillies 3-2 — Doug Flynn's two-run homer in the seventh inning broke a 1-1 tie and triggered New York past Philadelphia in the first game of their double-header. Randy Lerch, 8-12, and two relief pitchers combined on a four-hitter and Garry Maddox drove in both runs as the Phillies won the second game.

Cardinals 8, Pirates 6 — Ken Reitz drove in two runs with a double and a sacrifice fly and Keith Hernandez had two hits and scored two runs, leading St. Louis over Pittsburgh. The Cards' triumph trimmed Pittsburgh's lead in the National League East to a single game over the Montreal Expos. It was only the third Pirate setback in 13 games.

The first win is always the hardest, and three of the four new National Football League coaches are still looking for it as the season moves into its second week.

NFL PICKS

Ray Perkins of the New York Giants, Ron Ehrhardt of the New England Patriots and Bill Walsh with the San Francisco 49ers try again Sunday. All three came close in last weekend's opener but close counts only in horseshoes and hand grenades.

Tom Flores at Oakland was the only freshman coach to come up a winner the first time around.

The Pro Picker did all right for openers, coming up 10-4 for 714. There is no danger of overconfidence, however. The Picker has too long a memory for that.

The Picks:
NEW ENGLAND 24, N.Y. JETS 20 — The Patriots came within a few minutes of kayoing the Super Bowl-champion Steelers Monday night. The Jets will offer less resistance.

ST. LOUIS 17, NY GIANTS 10 — The Giants are like the little girl with the little curl...very, very good or very, very awful. Choose awful, again.

WASHINGTON 20, DETROIT 13 — No quarterback makes this a tough game to play as the Lions are finding out.

NEW ORLEANS 31, GREEN BAY 14 — The Saints can score points. If they can just get the center snap down pat, everything will be fine.

CHICAGO 10, MINNESOTA 6 — This will be an old-fashioned, grind-it-out game. There are few better grinders than the Bears' Walter Payton.

TAMPA BAY 21, BALTIMORE 17 — With Bert Jones of the Colts ailing, the Bucs play another team using a backup passer. Detroit couldn't get away with that last week. Baltimore won't this week.

MIAMI 19, SEATTLE 17 — The Dolphins had a scare against Buffalo and the Seahawks can be more frightening than the Bills. But it's awfully tough to beat Miami at home.

PITTSBURGH 17, HOUSTON 14 — The Oilers had an awful lot of trouble with an inferior Washington club. Pittsburgh is hardly inferior.

CLEVELAND 20, KANSAS CITY 13 — Coach Marv Levy has the Chiefs convinced they can win. The Browns stole one from the Jets last week.

SAN DIEGO 27, OAKLAND 21 — Dave Casper is back with the Raiders, a fact that won't go unnoticed by Ken Stabler. The Chargers, though, can put up plenty of points in a hurry.

CINCINNATI 16, BUFFALO 13 — Not much to choose between here, but on paper, the Bengals seem to have better personnel.

DALLAS 28, SAN FRANCISCO 7 — The Cowboys are in another class from the 49ers.

ATLANTA 24, PHILADELPHIA 17 (Monday night) — An interesting matchup with two up-and-coming teams. Falcons beat the Eagles in last year's playoffs so stay with them.

Red Raiders To Face Top-Ranked Trojans

Texas Tech Won't Be Scared This Time

By the Associated Press
Texas Tech has got to hope that a change of scenery will help their nerves.

Last year the Red Raiders were scared as they took the field in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum against Southern California, but it turned out that they provided a bigger scare, only falling by a 7-9 score to the Trojans after leading 9-0 at halftime.

This year, the scene shifts to Lubbock, Texas, and the Red Raiders hope to be more composed when they face the No. 1 ranked Trojans on their own turf.

In other action involving members of The Associated Press Top 20: No. 2 Alabama will visit Georgia Tech in a nationally televised contest; Wisconsin will be at No. 6 Purdue in a Big Ten conference game; Illinois also tests the Big Ten waters when it ventures to play No. 10 Michigan State; San Diego State visits No. 12 Missouri and Wyoming goes to the West Coast to face No. 15 Washington.

In night action involving the Top Twenty: No. 13 Stanford visits Tulane; No. 16 Houston will be at UCLA; California opens its Pacific-10 season at No. 18 Arizona State; and Brigham Young will meet No. 14 Texas A&M at Houston.

"We were really scared last year," said Texas Tech defensive back Larry Flowers. "We had seen all those great athletes on TV and we were wondering if we were going to get blown away. Then we went out on the field and found they weren't much different than any of the other teams we played."

Tech piled up a 9-0 lead on three Bill Adams field goals and Flowers said: "We went into the locker room at halftime leading and we couldn't believe it."

All-America tailback Charles White rallied the Trojans in the second half and they wore down the thin Red Raiders.

"I know they'll remember that game from last year," said Flowers. "I expect them to be rough and ready this time."

Some 55,000 fans are expected in Jones Stadium for the heralded duel between White and Texas Tech's James Hadnot, the leading rusher in the Southwest Conference last year.

Southern Cal Coach John Robinson remembers last year's meeting.

"Texas Tech will be one of the surprise teams in college football this year," said Robinson. "At the end of the year I wouldn't be surprised if they're ranked in the top 15.

"This will be as very close game — and a severe challenge for us."

Third-ranked Oklahoma, fourth-ranked Texas, No. 5

Penn State, No. 8 Nebraska, No. 9 Notre Dame, 11th-ranked Georgia, 17th-ranked Pittsburgh, No. 19 Florida State and No. 20 Arkansas are all idle this week.

Alekinas Is Reportedly Eyeing UConn Territory

By the Associated Press

STORRS, Conn. — The University of Connecticut, twice-spurned by Chuck Alekinas, apparently has finally won the heart of the 6-foot-10, 240-pound basketball star.

Although UConn officials would not comment on the matter, Providence College basketball Coach Gary Walters said he got a call from UConn athletic director John Toner Thursday informing him of Alekinas' latest change of heart.

Alekinas, the high school All-America from Morris, a small rural community in northwest Connecticut, had announced last spring he planned to enroll at Providence this fall after abruptly quitting the University of Kentucky basketball team last January.

Walters said Alekinas was on the Providence campus this week to register for the fall term. However, he did not do so, apparently having second thoughts about becoming a Friar, said Walters.

"I'm disappointed about it," the Providence coach said. "We were hoping he'd be a fine player for us. We were hoping he'd have a bright future here. I guess he got cold feet."

"I sensed something wasn't right when I met him."

Charnley Takes 1-Shot European Lead

By the Associated Press
TURNBERRY, Scotland — Englishman Tony Charnley shot a 2-under-par 68 to take a one-stroke lead over British Open champion Severiano Ballesteros of Spain and South African Vin Baker after the first round of the European Open.

Jamie Edman was the leading American golfer with a 72. Defending champion Bobby Wadkins was far back with a 75.

SUTTON, Mass. — Heavy rain and whipping winds forced postponement of the opening round of the PGA's $250,000 Pleasant Valley Golf Classic.

JOLIETTE, Quebec — First-round play in the 54-hole, $20,000 Quebec Professional Golf Association Championship was washed out by rain.

Tamed: Roscoe In Control Of Himself Now

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK — It is one of those unique ironies that it took one of tennis' most notorious firebrands to calm the emotions of Roscoe Tanner and turn the cannonballing lefthander into a potential champion.

"With his big serve and volley game, Roscoe had the basics to be a winner," said Tanner's tutor, Dennis Ralston, once a stormy petrel of the courts. "All he needed was to improve his all-court game and his temperament."

"There were two things we concentrated on when I started working with him a couple of years ago. One was development of a topspin, more aggressive backhand. The other was attitude. While he didn't show it, he was inclined to let little things bother him in the midst of a match. He would get mad, lose concentration and blow points."

"I told him to try to copy Rod Laver's backhand and to watch Bjorn Borg's court behavior — no player is cooler than Bjorn under pressure."

The 27-year-old Tennessee native learned his lessons well — reflected Wednesday night in his stunning fourth-victory over the top-seeded Borg, four-time Wimbledon winner, in their quarterfinal match in the U.S. Open.

Tanner had shown similar aplomb in carrying Borg to five hard sets in the Wimbledon final this year, an experience that provoked the normally imperturbable Swede to say afterward, "I was lucky — I was so nervous in the fifth set I could hardly hold my racket."

"The Wimbledon match gave me a lot of confidence," Tanner said after his victory over Borg at Flushing Meadow. "I realized that Borg wasn't invincible. I could win if I played my game."

Roscoe played his game and it was awesome. His 140 mph serves bounced off the fast asphalt surface like rockets. He dealt 11 aces and had 17 serves so fast they were unreturnable.

Frequently the phlegmatic Swede shook his head in dismay and resignation. When Tanner broke the net's tape with a service in the fourth set, blew two match points and allowed Borg to force a tiebreaker, many players — certainly a younger Tanner — might have folded. Instead, Roscoe hung tough.

"Dennis has impressed on me not to get rattled in situations like that," Tanner said. "He said I should be like Borg. It worked. No one concentrates as well as Borg."

Besides Tanner, Ralston's clients include Dick Stockton and Stan Smith, both of whom have seen their games reinvigorated after falling into the doldrums.

No one has shown greater improvement than the hard-serving Tanner, who has risen from 11th to fifth in the world computer standings — and is still climbing.

"Roscoe can be No. 1," Dennis says confidently. "He works very hard. He has good quickness and natural instincts. Best of all, he no longer gets rattled. Like Borg, a great court attitude."

TRAINED LIONS — Lions, trained and presented by Mike Clark, will be featured at the Kelly Brothers Circus sponsored by the Murray-Calloway County Jaycees on Thursday, Sept. 13. Performances will be at 4 and 7 p.m. at the Jaycees Fairground.

Kelly Brothers Circus Sponsored By Local Jaycees

The Kelly Brothers Circus, sponsored by the Murray-Calloway County Jaycees, will be presented at the Jaycees Fairgrounds on Thursday, Sept. 13. Performances will be at 4 and 7 p.m.

The Kelly Brothers Circus, filled with thrills and excitement to entertain both young and old, is one of the few remaining tent circuses traveling through the United States today.

Ringmaster of the circus under the yellow and blue tent is Jon Friday. Attractions at the circus include the acrobatics of the Morgan Aston Troupe, Ernesto Gonzales on the swinging trapeze, the Flores Cupertino performing ponies and dogs, knockabout comedy by the Odd Family and lions trained and presented by Mike Clark, as well as the circus clowns.

In addition, the Frausteinsteins comedy plate-spinning act, highlighted by the great Hinzino, is designed to please the youngsters.

Three Men Beat, Rob David Kennedy In Harlem Hotel

NEW YORK (AP) — A police source said he was known in Harlem as "White James," and some people in the destitute area said they had seen him around before.

But David Kennedy, the 24-year-old son of the late Robert F. Kennedy, says only that he was flagged down and lured into the lobby of the Shelton Plaza Hotel in Harlem before being beaten and robbed by three men, according to official police reports.

A police Narcotics Division source, however, said Thursday that Kennedy apparently went there to buy cocaine. Kennedy could not be reached for comment.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said the Harvard dropout got into an argument Wednesday with a pusher over payment for cocaine, but police arrived before any dope actually changed hands.

Michigan State Student Missing; May Be Dead From Fantasy Game

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 16-year-old Michigan State University student has disappeared and may be dead — the victim of an elaborate intellectual fantasy game that may have become all too real, investigators say.

William Dear, who heads a five-member detective team hired by the parents of James Dallas Egbert III to look for their son, says anonymous tips, possibly from other players, suggest Egbert may be trapped somewhere.

If the sophomore computer science student is trapped, "lack of proper food, water and facilities after three weeks" would make his death a certainty, said Dear.

James and Anna Egbert of Dayton, Ohio, who have offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the teenager, said their son did play the game called "Dragons and Dungeons," but they believe he was abducted.

"After this long, I'm convinced he's being held by somebody," Egbert told the Dayton Journal Herald this week.

In the game, players using special dice assume the roles of medieval characters with the object of overcoming barriers to escape a dungeon charted on graph paper. The game is based on rules and techniques contained in three books.

Dear's team was checking two sites today in their search for Egbert, who Dear said had an IQ of 145. The sites were identified by the anonymous tipsters, he said.

Testimony To Resume Today In Trial Of State Ku Klux Klan Leader

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Testimony is to resume today in the trial of Kentucky Ku Klux Klan leader Sherman Adams who is charged with ordering the beating of two Bullitt County brothers.

Testimony Thursday stated that six Barren County men were ordered by Adams to rough up and scare Gifford and Daniel Coy at their home near Shepherdsville.

Ronnie Jones, James

Haynes, Ricky Turner and David Bush testified for the prosecution that Adams gave the order to "rough them up and scare them." Adams is accused of having Jones, Haynes, Turner, Bush and brothers Kerry and Tony Wyatt beat the Coy brothers.

Before the beatings the night of Dec. 6, 1978, the six and Adams were at Truckers' World, a Shepherdsville truck stop, David Bush testified. The six left the truck stop for the Coy home, Bush said, but stopped "at the bottom of a hill in a church parking lot" waiting for Adams to arrive.

Adams, who identifies himself as the Kentucky grand dragon of the United Klans of America, arrived in his truck and wanted to know if the six had done anything yet, Bush testified. Adams told them he had an alibi established and directed the men to "go on and do it," Bush said.

Turner testified that Jones was lecturing the Coys on not selling drugs before they started beating the Coy brothers after entering their home. He said they were in the house 5 to 10 minutes. After the beatings, Turner said the group went to Shepherdsville where they were stopped by police.

Daniel Coy testified that Adams had come to him earlier and said he didn't like Alicia Adams, his daughter, associating with Gifford Coy. Adams came to the Coy home sometime in September and threatened to kill them if Alicia Adams was seen there again, he added.

Turner said he had no "ill feelings" about the Coys, but the beatings were carried out because Sherman Adams instructed it. Asked if it was necessary to follow Adams' orders, Turner said, "It was necessary to follow his orders at that time."

The trial is being held in Hardin Circuit Court on a change of venue.

Youth is wonderful. Children enjoy a resistance to injury, a resilience that enables them to withstand strains and stresses that would cripple most adults. This is fortunate, because childhood activities are strenuous and impose severe stresses on growing bodies.

Skateboarding, bike riding, roller skating and ball games present a real danger that young spines will be stressed beyond their endurance. A series of small injuries can build to a major problem in later years.

HEALTH

The best stimulant

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 68-year-old single man and sometimes I get lonely for the opposite sex. I'm a widower and I want to maintain my ability as long as possible in case I find some lady I want to live with.

Are there any foods I can eat that will help me maintain my sexual capacity? Are there any medicines or pills I could take that would be helpful? I have heard that there are a number of different stimulants men use to maintain their capacity.

DEAR READER — The best stimulant of all is someone you find attractive. That doesn't come in bottles or pills and it's related to your own psychological reaction to the other person.

There has been a lot published about foods and sexual capacity. Most of it is useless. In some primitive cultures, certain foods have improved sexual capacity but there's a catch to it.

These people had poor diets. When they ate so-called sex foods, their nutrition improved. Proper nutrition maintains health in all aspects, including one's sexual capacity. Poor nutrition decreases one's sexual interest and capacity.

Forget about all those advertised products from rhinoceros horns to tree bark. Their effect if any is just a confidence reaction. The individual expects that they work or have some magical power and the confidence he gains may improve his performance.

MISS YOUR PAPER?

Subscribers who have not received their home-delivered copy of The Murray Ledger & Times by 5:30 p.m. Monday-Friday or by 3:30 p.m. Saturdays are urged to call 753-1916 between 5:30 p.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, or 3:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. Saturdays.

A circulation department employee is on duty during these time periods to insure delivery of your newspaper. Calls must be placed by 6 p.m. weekdays or 4 p.m. Saturdays to guarantee delivery.

The regular business office hours of The Murray Ledger & Times are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon, Saturdays.

The best way to maintain your sexual capacity as you get older really is to avoid poor health, particularly to avoid circulatory problems. That's done by eating a normal well-balanced diet that's low in fat, low in cholesterol and doesn't allow you to become obese. Don't smoke cigarettes. Avoid excess use of alcohol and maintain a good general lifestyle.

To give you some guidelines about such a diet, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-6, Balanced Diet: Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances (RDA). Others who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 13-year-old male and have a concave chest. This has just become noticeable in the last couple of years.

I'm involved in sports and my friends are asking me why my chest is caved in. I'm becoming self-conscious about it. Is there anything that can be done to correct this condition?

DEAR READER — Unless it's very severe, it's one of those conditions that should probably be left alone. It's sometimes called a funnel chest.

All that's happened is that the breastbone in the center of the chest is bent inward. If the bend is slight, it won't create any problem.

In severe cases, it can displace or compress the heart. In that situation, it can cause some problems. I'm certain that's not true in your case since you are involved in sports. It sounds from your letter that you are fairly active and don't complain of any symptoms. The only way it could be corrected would be surgery and that's pretty drastic treatment for a minor body variation.

Supreme Court To Clear Up Confusion

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court could act soon to clear the considerable confusion that has arisen in lower courts over its most recent ruling on press freedom.

Among the hundreds of cases to reach the court during its summer recess is one that could be used to clarify last July's decision, which dealt with courtroom access for the public. The new case involves an appeal of a Virginia law that could mean total exclusion of the public from certain trials.

The decision in July saw a divided court give judges enormous authority to bar the news media and public from courtroom proceedings that have traditionally been open to them.

Although the justices do not often fine-tune their work so quickly, some signs indicate they might be willing to make an exception in the case known as Gannett vs. DePasquale — the case decided July 2.

The justices at that time voted 5-4 in ruling that "members of the public have no constitutional right under the 6th and 14th amendments to attend criminal trials."

Confusion has arisen, however, since the Gannett vs. DePasquale case did not involve a criminal trial. It involved a pretrial hearing from which the public — including a Gannett news organization reporter — was excluded because the court felt the defendants' rights to a fair trial could be jeopardized if the public attended.

Thus, the main point of dispute arising from the Gannett decision is one of scope. Does a judge's broad discretion to conduct secret proceedings apply only to pretrial hearings or to the trials as well?

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, one of the court's five-member majority, took an extraordinary step last month in telling a reporter that judges were being misled by news accounts of the July ruling.

Burger said the ruling was meant to apply to pretrial hearings only.

Members of the nation's highest court almost never publicly discuss their rulings. But just days after Burger's comment, Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. voiced concern about possible misreading of the ruling.

Then it was Justice Harry A. Blackmun's turn. A dissenter in the Gannett case, Blackmun said that Burger was wrong and that the ruling did apply to trials as well as pretrial hearings.

Blackmun was quoted as calling the decision "outrageous," and saying he hoped the Supreme Court would overturn it within 10 years.

James C. Goodale, vice chairman and general counsel of The New York Times, has stated that such a possibility is a strong one.

"While the opinion may not be overturned overnight, it would not surprise me that eventually it came to rest with other Supreme Court aberrations, such as outlawing the minimum wage, outlawing maximum working hours and overturning the New Deal legislation of the 1930s," Goodale wrote in The National Law Journal.

Even before Blackmun's outburst, an appeal by the Richmond Newspapers Inc. of Richmond, Va., had reached the Supreme Court.

The appeal challenges a Virginia law that authorizes, according to the state's highest court, the total exclusion of the press and public from an entire criminal trial.

It was sparked by a 1978 murder trial held entirely in secret after the defendant requested that the public and news media be barred.

The votes of four of the high court's nine justices are necessary to grant review to the Richmond appeal. If four votes for review are not cast, the Virginia Supreme Court's ruling will stand.

Some word in the Richmond case may come soon after the justices return to the bench on Oct. 1.

Meanwhile, judges have not hesitated to employ the Gannett ruling. According to a survey by the Washington-based Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, there have been more than 50 instances since July 2 in which judges closed or tried to close court proceedings.

At least a dozen of those instances involved actual trials.

Many journalists have expressed concern over the Gannett ruling. The Associated Press has issued guidelines to its staff on what to do in the event there is an attempt to close a trial.

Even if the Gannett ruling's impact is narrowed, says Jack Landau, of the reporter's committee, some free-press damage has been done.

"Having taken off our arms and legs, the court might decide to give us back our left leg as a compromise," he said. "But the trend of restricting First Amendment rights will have continued."

A trend perceived by many in the news media began in 1972, when in Branzburg vs. Hayes the Supreme Court said reporters enjoy no right to withhold information about their sources from grand juries.

During their 1977-78 term, the justices limited the right of access the press and public have into institutions the government wants to keep closed (Houchins vs. KQED) and ruled that police may obtain a warrant to search a newspaper office for evidence of a crime with which the newspaper had nothing to do (Zurcher vs. Stanford Daily).

In addition to its Gannett ruling last term, the court used two separate decisions to narrow the libel law definition of "public figure" — making the news media easier targets for libel suits.

In one, Hutchinson vs. Proxmire, the justices ruled that individuals who receive public funds are not necessarily public figures who face a stiffer burden of proof when suing for libel. In the second, Wolston vs. Readers Digest, the justices said that persons charged with crimes also are not necessarily public figures under libel law.

In a third libel decision, the court ruled in Herbert vs.

Lando that persons required to prove "actual malice" when suing journalists or news organizations for libel may inquire into the "state of mind" of reporters and editors who prepared the challenged report.

REPAIR WORK — A facelift has been given to the Mae Will Littleton house in Hazel. The house was the first dwelling this summer to receive a grant from the Community Development Program. Each house can receive up to $8,000 with a possibility of the Hazel city council to vote for an additional $2,000.

Grant Allows Hazel To Give Facelifts To Several Houses

Hazel has been giving parts of its city a facelift.

With a $485,200 grant awarded Sept. 29, 1978, from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, several houses in the south Kentucky community have been getting a new look.

Work on the houses began in mid-July.

According to Larry Wilson, head of the Hazel Community Development program, in order to qualify for funds, the applicants for the project must have a total combined family gross income must be below $8,000, and the structure that they live in must be substandard, according to the structural conditions survey.

Also, the grant only is available to houses within the city limits.

Housing inspector Ida Young makes an exterior inspection of the house, determining if the dwelling is substandard and what work will be required.

After this is determined, three contracts are mailed to contractors. The contract then is awarded to the lowest bidder, according to the rehabilitation grant guidelines.

Before the work can start, the owner must approve of all work to be done. Also, before the job can be called complete, the owner must okay the completed work, Wilson said.

The contractor is shown the dwelling by the housing inspector and work to be done is reviewed.

Murray Lodge Will Hold Call Meeting

Murray Lodge No. 105 Free and Accepted Masons will hold a call meeting on Monday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the lodge hall, Highway 121 North at Johnny Robertson Road.

Work will be in the E. A. degree, according to Walter King, master of the lodge, who urges all Masons to attend.

Jerry Hendley Will Speak At Services, Assembly Of God

Evangelist Jerry Hendley will be the speaker at services at the First Assembly of God, South 16th Street and Glendale Road, starting Sunday, Sept. 9, through Friday, Sept. 14. Services will be at 7 p.m. each evening.

Assisting the Rev. Hendley in the services will be his wife, Rita, and their son, Tim. Rev. Hendley is a former pastor of the Murray church.

For transportation or information persons may call 753-3940 or 753-6695.

A maximum grant of $8,000 can be granted to a dwelling. Also, the Hazel city council has to power to vote a maximum of an additional $2,000 to a house.

The remodeling has a one-year guarantee and special items, such as smoke alarms, will be installed in each house qualifying for the project.

Wilson said only houses qualify for the project, not mobile homes. However, he added that other agencies can be referred for help in that area.

Advice and counseling on home care is given, Wilson said. The service is free of charge, he added.

All funds in the grant, the first of its kind, do not go for the remodeling of houses. Wilson said other positions for funding include relocating, planning and administering.

After an application has been made, the houses are rated on a point system. Points are given according to low income of family, age of occupants, disability and shape of the house. Houses are put at the top of the list according to priority.

September Officially Designated As Employer Appreciation Month

September has been officially designated National Employer Appreciation Month by the National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Army Reserve. The purpose is to recognize the efforts of more than 350,000 employers who have pledged their support to their employees who are members of the military Reserve.

"The importance of employer support is keenly felt by our unit members," said Capt. John R. Slater, commander of the Training Center in Murray. "The job performance of Guardsmen and Reservists is very often determined by the pressure or support they receive at home and at their civilian job."

"If, for example, they feel their participation in the Reserve is harming their chances for promotion in their civilian job, they can't function as a soldier without some reluctance. Employers who voluntarily lend their support to these people are lifting a great weight from them, and it shows up in their attitude toward their military job," Slater continued.

Since the formation of the National Committee in 1972, some 350,000 employers representing more than 60 percent of the work force, have signed voluntary pledges of support. By so doing, they agree not to reduce or limit

...THE NEWS IN BRIEF...

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen who dived for cover from Puerto Ricans' blazing gunfire in the House of Representatives 25 years ago say they don't object to President Carter's freeing the assailants.

"I'm surprised they kept them in that long," said Rep. L.H. Fountain, D-N.C., who left his seat just before a bullet tore through it during the attack.

The White House announced Thursday that Carter is granting clemency to the three surviving Puerto Rican nationalists who shot up the House in 1954, and a fourth convicted of taking part in an assassination attempt on President Harry S. Truman in 1950.

All have been imprisoned for at least 25 years and are expected to be released

Monday, officials said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate negotiators are beginning their search for a compromise standby gasoline rationing bill, but wide differences remain between the two chambers.

The panel was meeting for the first time today to reconcile House and Senate versions of the legislation, which is part of President Carter's overall energy program.

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe Rhodesia (AP) — Fighting raged for a third day today as helicopter-borne commandos from Zimbabwe Rhodesia destroyed bridges, a radar station, fuel dumps and army camps up to 200 miles inside Mozambique in their first-ever strike at regular army targets, a military spokesman said.

The spokesman gave no details of the latest fighting but said the raiders were having no difficulty in clashes with Mozambican government forces.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Four guerrillas shot and killed the schoolteacher brother of El Salvador's President Carlos Humberto Romero in a roadside ambush north of this Central American capital, police said.

Jose Javier Romero Menea, 59, died instantly in a hail of pistol and automatic weapons fire as he drove to his home Thursday night, police said. His daughter Karin was wounded.

The assassins wore red and black bandanas, the colors of a local leftist guerrilla army. Flags of the guerrilla Unified Popular Action Front and Nicaragua's Sandinista National Liberation Front were found at the scene, a police spokesman said.

Eddie's favorite type of music is what he labels "Rockabilly," combination of rock and hillbilly.

At 17, Eddie is very young to be where he is in the music world. This summer he has been entertaining folks along with other hopefuls at Happy Shahan's Alamo Village.

He recently quit working at the Village after a demonstration tape he made for Cheve Valdez at Cheval Productions interested the producers of the Louisiana Hayride, a show similar to the Grande Ole Opry, according to Eddie.

"They have a segment of the show called 'Star Search.' It is a type of talent show and the winner gets to become a regular on the show," Eddie says. He will try his luck on Sept. 1.

The program is presented in Bossier City, La.

Included in the demonstration tape made at Valdez's studio in Del Rio was one song written by Eddie. It is entitled "A New Rose."

Eddie admits he doesn't read a note of music but is quick to add, "I can play anything."

Eddie works out on a guitar while he is performing but only as a backup.

While writing music and entertaining audiences are the present aspirations of Eddie, he also has other dreams. Although he has

Breaking Up Is Hard To Do

Male Feelings Revealed

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do," ABC's first major event of the new season, is about six men who "gain new insight into what ... loving and being a man is all about." Or so its publicity purports.

What being a man is all about, according to this four-hour movie (the first part aired Wednesday with it concluding tonight), is alcoholism, woman hating and beating up the guy whose beach house hospitality made possible this summer of insight. Oh, yeah, and tears; and there are many, tears to show that men aren't really just macho automatons.

Oh, the anguish of being male. Oh, how fragile the masculine condition. Oh, you go for that sort of thing, good entertainment. This will draw big Nielsen numbers.

The central character is aging macho-man Frank Bellamy.

UPSTAIRS played to rave reviews on its initial appearance on public television from 1975 to 1977. Widely acclaimed as the most popular series in the history of PBS, the saga of the Bellamys makes another debut, this time on commercial television. The timelessness of the frantic dilemmas faced by the Bellamy household has captured a vast and extremely loyal audience wherever it has been presented.

UPSTAIRS—DOWNSTAIRS—

Richard Bellamy, a poor country parson's son turned self-made Governor, Minister, and his titled wife, Lady Marjorie, reside in the fashionable Belgrave section of London. Their affluent "upstairs" existence is carefully maintained by their "downstairs" corps of servants. Seemingly a bastion of proper decorum, scandal looms precariously close to the good Bellamy name with free-spirited daughter Elizabeth and rakish son James preoccupied with sex, socialism and typically youthful disdain for convention.

Downstairs, the domestic staff is ruled by the unflappable Hudson, butler to the Bellamys' and very British in his concern that social position and appearance be maintained at any cost. Despite his attempts to keep the activities of his flock above board, the intriguing affairs Downstairs rival the scandalous antics occurring within the Upstairs sanctum.

The thirty-nine episodes of UPSTAIRS—DOWNSTAIRS reveal a wealth of extraordinary events, affairs, marriages, exiles and homecomings; a birth in the basement; a death on the Titanic; fortunes won and lost; a King's visit and a King's demise and the impending onslaught of World War I are all part of the Bellamy legacy in early 20th Century.

UPSTAIRS—DOWNSTAIRS—

UPSTAIRS played to rave reviews on its initial appearance on public television from 1975 to 1977. Widely acclaimed as the most popular series in the history of PBS, the saga of the Bellamys makes another debut, this time on commercial television. The timelessness of the frantic dilemmas faced by the Bellamy household has captured a vast and extremely loyal audience wherever it has been presented.

UPSTAIRS—DOWNSTAIRS—

Richard Bellamy, a poor country parson's son turned self-made Governor, Minister, and his titled wife, Lady Marjorie, reside in the fashionable Belgrave section of London. Their affluent "upstairs" existence is carefully maintained by their "downstairs" corps of servants. Seemingly a bastion of proper decorum, scandal looms precariously close to the good Bellamy name with free-spirited

Yes, soap opera. As such, it's pretty good stuff. I just thought I'd warn you that when the menu says Oeufs Champignon, you still get scrambled eggs with mushrooms.

Nielson Ratings Have Things For CBS, NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — With the 1979-80 season a week or two away, there was something in the networks' ratings race in the week ending Sept. 2 for both ABC and CBS.

For CBS, it was the week's three highest-rated programs. For ABC, it was the next 10.

Figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed "M-A-S-H," as the week's most popular program, followed by "WKRP in Cincinnati" and "Lou Grant."

ABC kicked off its 1979-80 season Sept. 17, with CBS and NBC to follow a week later. All three networks have used the last several weeks to test some of their new programs. ABC, for example, took the wraps off "240 Robert," a new action-adventure series, with satisfying results.

The show was No. 5 in the latest ratings. Most shows on the schedule this time of year are reruns, but the acceptance for first-run programs is not necessarily widespread.

Two shows among the five lowest: "Dorothy" on CBS, No. 59, "Prime Time Sunday," on NBC, No. 60, "Hanging In" on CBS, No. 61, "All Star Junior Pyramid" on ABC and No. 62, "Plasticman Saturday."

The next 10 programs: "Vegas," "Taxi," and "Laverne and Shirley," all ABC; "M-A-S-H" (Sunday special) and "Dukes of Hazzard," both CBS; "Eight is Enough," ABC; "The Jeffersons," CBS; "Little House on the Prairie," NBC, and "Dallas," and "Barnaby Rums," both CBS.

Turbulent Twenties Story Told In Age Of Ballyhoo

American lifestyles changed drastically during the 1920's from quiet farm life to big city speakeasies, flappers, automobiles and jazz. Using rare newsreels, private movies, Hollywood films and an archive of photographs, "The Age of Ballyhoo" tells the story of the turbulent twenties at 8 p.m. (CT) Monday, Sept. 10 on KET.

Gloria Swanson narrates the one-hour program that includes many one-of-a-kind photos and film clips from Swanson's private collection. Swanson is seen in clips from "Manhattan" (1924) and "The Love of Sunya" (1927), as well as scenes from "Mark of Zorro" (1920) with Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., and "St. Louis Blues" with singer Bessie Smith.

"The Age of Ballyhoo" also features two U.S. presidents on the campaign trail: Calvin Coolidge down on the farm and Warren G. Harding conducting his "back porch" campaign.

The twenties had its hero, as well as its politicians. Charles Lindbergh's epic flight to Paris is documented with footage of the take-off, his landing at Orly Airport in Paris, and New York City's triumphant welcome home, including portions of the first sound newsreel ever made.
